

PART A: General Information

The Affordable Care Act makes available to you the opportunity to buy health insurance coverage for you and your family through the Health Insurance Marketplace.

To assist you as you evaluate your options, this notice provides some basic information about the Health Insurance Marketplace and how it relates to the Auburn University Health Plan.

What is the Health Insurance Marketplace?

The Health Insurance Marketplace (or Marketplace) is designed to help you find health insurance coverage that meets your needs and fits your budget. The Marketplace offers "one-stop shopping" to find and compare private health insurance options. You may also be eligible for a tax credit that lowers your monthly premium right away.

Can I Save Money on my Health Insurance Premiums in the Marketplace?

You may qualify to save money and lower your monthly premium but only if Auburn University does not offer health insurance coverage to you, or offers you coverage that doesn't meet certain Federal standards. The savings on your premium for which you may be eligible depends on your household income.

Currently, the Auburn University Health Plan meets all requirements of the Affordable Care Act.

Does Employer Health Insurance Coverage Affect My Eligibility for Premium Savings through the Marketplace?

Yes. If Auburn University offers health insurance coverage to you that meets certain Federal standards, you will not be eligible for a tax credit through the Marketplace, and you may wish to enroll in the Auburn University Health Plan.

If the cost of your coverage from Auburn University (and not the coverage of any other members of your family) is more than 9.5% of your household income for the year, or if Auburn University offers coverage that does not meet the "minimum value" standard set by the Affordable Care Act, you may also be eligible for a tax credit.*

Note: If you purchase health insurance coverage through the Marketplace instead of accepting the health insurance coverage offered to you by Auburn University, then you will lose the employer contribution under the Auburn University Health Plan. Also, this employer contribution, as well as your employee contribution under the Auburn University Health Plan, is excluded from income for Federal and State income tax purposes. Your premium payments for health insurance coverage through the Marketplace are made on an after-tax basis.

If Auburn University does not offer health insurance coverage to you at all, or does not offer coverage to you that meets certain Federal standards, you may be eligible for a tax credit that lowers your monthly premium or for a reduction in certain cost-sharing within the coverage.

 - All employees.
 - Some employees. Eligible employees are: Active, full-time, non-student employees, if the most recent appointment period is continuous for a minimum of one year (nine or twelve months as appropriate to the appointment).

- With respect to dependents

- We do offer coverage. Eligible dependents are: your spouse (person to whom you are legally married under Alabama law); and, your child under age 26 regardless of marital status or enrollment in school; and certain qualifying Sponsored Dependents.

- We do not offer coverage.

If checked, this coverage meets the minimum value standard, and the cost of this coverage to you is intended to be affordable, based on employee wages.

 Even if your employer intends your coverage to be affordable, you may still be eligible for a premium discount through the Marketplace. The Marketplace will use your household income, along with other factors, to determine whether you may be eligible for a premium discount. If, for example, your wages vary from week to week (perhaps you are an hourly employee or you work on a commission basis), if you are newly employed mid-year, or if you have other income losses, you may still qualify for a premium discount.

If you decide to shop for coverage in the Marketplace, www.healthcare.gov will guide you through the process. Here's the employer information you'll enter when you visit www.healthcare.gov to find out if you can get a tax credit to lower your monthly premiums.
