Physics Lab Printing Policy

The printers located in the Physics Labs are intended to be utilized to print items such as Data Tables and Graphs while performing Physics Labs. Printing personal items such as e-mails, webpages, term papers, etc. is prohibited. To help control unauthorized printing, all of the lab printers are stocked with orange paper.

All lab and/or activity procedures are being provided via pdfs on the internet free of charge. It is the responsibility of the student to be prepared prior to arriving at the lab; therefore, printing the lab procedures using the Physics Lab printers will not be allowed.

If you arrive to lab without a printed copy of the lab and/or activity, your TA will take a 10% grade deduction for the first offense and a 20% graded deduction for the second offense. Additional offenses will result in a grade of zero. If a lab report is turned in that includes pages of the procedure and/or data pages printed on orange paper, the report will be subjected to the grade deductions mentioned above. The only items that can be turned in on orange paper are graphs and/or tables printed from the Data Studio software or Excel.

If you forget to print the procedure for a lab/activity, there are student computer labs on the 2nd floor of Parker Hall that can be used to print the procedure.
