Spring 2016 Course - Panama Study Abroad
Culture, Environment and Climate change
GEOG 5720/6720; HONR 3087

- 3 credit hour course, no prerequisites, supplements your resume, work as well as enjoy Spring Break in Panama, Honors course and Sustainability Minor credit available.

- Study the basic principles and processes that have molded the culture and environment of the Republic of Panama

- Discussions on climate change, local, regional and global - the causes and solutions

- Assess how Panama locals have adjusted to various changes brought by Panama Canal

- Deal with sustainability issues, adaptation and mitigation techniques to delay and deter the impacts of Climate Change

- Learn how to use Remote Sensing, GIS, Infrared Cameras, and other related technologies to do research in Panama

- Panama Trip cost $1500 + Airfare and personal expenses

For more information contact: Chandana Mitra, Geoscience Dept., email: chandana@auburn.edu
Daniel McGowin, Geoscience Dept., email: dam0027@auburn.edu