

Internships

posted Spring 2003

1. The Office of Naval Research (ONR) is offering the Naval Research Enterprise Intern Program at Department of Navy laboratories. The program provides a paid 10-week summer research opportunity at the Naval Research Laboratory, Naval Systems Command Laboratory, or Marine Corps Warfighting Laboratory. Opportunities are available for students in many discipline areas. Laboratory links are available and provide a description of the mission and research performed at each laboratory.

To apply, visit www.awu.org/onr. The application deadline is January 10, 2003, but may be extended depending upon demand.

2. The National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) is offering up to 15 internships in Washington, D.C., for the summer 2003. College students entering their junior or senior year in fall 2003 are eligible. NEH interns receive $4,000 for 10 weeks of work. Applicants must be U.S. citizens, foreign nationals who have been legal residents in the United States for at least 3 years or territorial residents of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands. Past interns have written articles for Humanities magazine, researched emerging fields in the humanities, and developed web-based tools for gathering humanities-related information.

The application deadline is Tuesday, January 21, 2003. Applications are being accepted online at <<http://www.neh.gov>>. Questions should be directed to Ralph Canevali in the Office of Strategic Planning at internships@neh.gov.

3. NOW Legal Defense and Education Fund strives to achieve equality and improve the lives of women and girls by transforming the institutions and values of our society through legal advocacy, public policy development, communications, education and strategic alliances.

NOW Legal Defense seeks undergraduate students with a demonstrated interest in women's issues, the law, education and/or public policy for summer internships. Interns in our Communications Department, Public Education & Outreach Department and the National Judicial Education Program will receive a weekly stipend of $230/per week for 10 weeks. Summer interns must work at least 30 hours each week and participate in seminars and brown bag lunches sponsored by the Everett Internship Program. For more information on our internship program, please visit our website, http://www.nowldef.org/html/about/intern_under.shtml. The application deadline is February 1, 2003. Early application is strongly encouraged. Please email njep@nowldef.org with any questions.

4. Southern Progress hires approximately 30 student interns for its Birmingham offices each spring, summer, and fall semester. The internship program is open to junior, senior, and graduate-level students. Interns work in a variety of areas, including editorial, art, marketing, accounting, advertising, information technology, customer service, and the test kitchens. All interns earn $10 an hour. Southern Progress will complete the necessary paperwork for interns to receive academic credit as well. The summer application deadline date is February 15, 2003. For more information, contact Holly Hughey at holly_hughey@timeinc.com.

5. Turner offers internships to undergraduate students who have completed their sophomore or junior year, or students currently enrolled in graduate school. Internships are designed for student volunteers who receive course credit, and are unpaid (darn!). But here's your chance to learn "from the best in entertainment, news, sports, and business." To apply, visit www.turnerjobs.com, and follow the link "opportunities for college students."
