

Supply Chain Management Workload Management Journal List

Updated by Department- October 2, 2020

Elite Journals:

International Journal of Physical Distribution and Logistics Management

Journal of Business Logistics

Journal of Operations Management

Journal of Supply Chain Management

Production and Operations Management

Category I:

Computers and OR

IIE Transactions

International Journal of Logistics Management

International Journal of Logistics: Research and Applications

International Journal of Production Economics

Journal of Operational Research Society

Journal of Purchasing and Supply Management

Journal of Transportation Management

OMEGA

Supply Chain Management: An International Journal

Transportation Journal

Transportation Research: Part E Logistics and Transportation Review

A publication appearing in a journal of another discipline will be valued based on the relevant Harbert College of Business department's evaluation of that journal. Faculty may also petition for other journals to be categorized as Elite or Category I on a case-by-case basis. A timely review and decision will be made by the supply chain faculty holding rank of Professor. Examples of logical resources to use for a petition include: Financial Times 50 list, Chartered Association of Business Schools Academic Journal Guide, or other reputable sources.