III. Guest Speakers
a. Jane Parker & Rob Wellbaum- Development (Campaign)
i. AU Foundation
Ms. Parker provided an overview of the AU Foundation which is a separate 501(c)3 that can receive charitable contributions and manage the university’s endowments. As of 10/31/13, the endowment was approximately $558 million. Ms. Parker reported that donors are becoming more specific with their gifts and want to see how their philanthropy has benefitted the university. The AU Foundation investments committee evaluates recommendations from the investment consulting firm, Prime Buchholz, and makes recommendations to the foundation.

ii. Campaign
Mr. Wellbaum provided an overview of the ongoing campaign and said that this is the fourth major comprehensive campaign undertaken by the university. Mr. Wellbaum shared the timeline for the campaign which consists of four phases including, preparation, leadership gifts, public, and post-campaign. The university is currently in the second phase, the leadership gifts phase which began in January 2013 and is estimated to run 24-30 months. The objectives of the campaign are to raise $1 billion, elevate sustainable giving, grow volunteer engagement and enhance donor relations and stewardship. In the 2013 year, the Office of Development has initiated leadership gift solicitations for university leaders, administration and trustees, expanded the annual fund call center, expanded donor recognition programs and initiated volunteer committees. Mr. Wellbaum reported that the campaign has reached 49.14% of the $1 billion goal.
b. Dan King – Facilities (Facilities Update)
   i. Current/Upcoming Projects
      Mr. King recapped the ongoing facilities’ projects, reporting the completion of the kinesiology building, the wellness center, the CASIC facility and the W. Samford residence hall. Scheduled for completion in 2014 are the small animal teaching hospital (phase II) and the wellness kitchen.
   ii. Master Plan
      Mr. King reported that the master plan was approved by the Board of Trustees in November 2013. Following 166 meetings with different constituent groups, facilities found that:
      1. The greatest academic space deficit was in instructional lab space, primarily in the College of Sciences and Mathematics.
      2. In instructional classroom space, there is an issue with quality and appropriate size and not quantity of rooms.
      3. The college or school with the greatest space deficit was the School of Nursing.
   iii. Capital Projects Program
      Mr. King reported that facilities ensured the master plan was in sync with the university’s strategic plan and placed a focus on student success. Several priorities going forward are the construction of the Academic Success Complex, a new College of Education building, and a new School of Nursing building. When asked by representative Robert Kulick about Dunstan Hall, Mr. King reported that Dunstan will be demolished in January and February of 2014 and that facilities is exploring the possibility of building a parking structure where the engineering shops and L building are currently located.

IV. Old Business
   None

V. Comments from the Chair – Bryan Elmore
   Bryan Elmore thanked the guest speakers and those who attended the open forum with the Huron Group. Mr. Elmore informed attendees that a panelist discussion regarding the budget plans would be held January 15, 2014. Additionally, Mr. Elmore reminded attendees of the upcoming Active Shooter Training posted in AU Daily. Mr. Elmore concluded by reporting that OIT would be switching networks to a new core on December 17 resulting in all university service being temporarily down.

VI. Executive Committee Report – Ashley Hamberlin
   Ashley Hamberlin reported that the A&P Executive Committee met in November 2013 and discussed the grievance process and proposed amendments to the constitution.

VII. New Business
   a. Constitutional Amendments: Bryan Elmore presented three proposed amendments to the constitution and told attendees that a vote on the proposed amendments would be done by all A&P employees. The proposed are included as appendix A.
      Discussion: Representative Robert Kulick reported that the Calendar and Schedules committee met in November and elected him as chair. Mr. Kulick supported the proposal that the representative on the university Calendar and Schedules committee be a member of the Advisor Caucus. Representative David Benjamin asked about the removal of current committee members who have more than two absences and Chair, Bryan Elmore replied that the Executive Committee remove the member and Nominations and Elections would solicit a new member. Member-at-large, Vic Walker suggested that the language be changed regarding the removal of member from “will remove” to “may remove” and suggested that each committee have input on who is to be removed. David Benjamin suggested that the committee should vote on the removal of the member.

The amendments will be brought before the assembly for a vote at the February 2014 meeting.
