After Mandela: South African Education in the Context of Politics, Business, & Race

Dr. Stacey Nickson
Director, K-12 Outreach and Fulbright Specialist
Auburn University

Informed by first-hand knowledge gained as a Fulbright Scholar in Cape Town, South Africa, Dr. Stacey Nickson, will discuss the impact of current politics, business, and race on South Africa today. Dr. Nickson's presentation will explore whether the post-Mandela politics of the African National Congress (ANC) and the policies of Black Economic Empowerment (BEE) are driving South Africa towards Mandela's vision or draining the "rainbow nation" of its vitality and viability?

October 29th, 2015
Thursday
3:30 p.m.
Draughon Library
Caroline Marshall Draughon Auditorium
(Ground Floor)

Co-sponsored by The College of Liberal Arts and Auburn University Libraries