About this Course

“Going Green: Sustainable Economic Development” is a two-day course offered by the Economic & Community Development Institute, a partnership of Auburn University and the Alabama Cooperative Extension System.

On June 18th and 19th, ECDI will assemble leading economic and community development practitioners and professionals at the Hotel at Auburn University and Dixon Conference Center to share innovative ideas and practices based upon proven success in energy-conscious and environmentally-friendly development.

This new Alabama Prosperity Forum course is designed to give participants opportunities to ask questions and engage in constructive dialogue about the challenges, possibilities, and potential of “going green.”

Course Format

ECDI will provide each participant with a course CD containing faculty presentations and other reference materials. Participants can view course presentations on a personal laptop or on a screen in front of the classroom.

Alabama Prosperity Forum

With over 20 years of experience in economic development education and over 1,000 alumni across Alabama, ECDI is the state's leading provider of economic and community development education. Building upon the success of its annual two-week Intensive Economic Development Training Course, ECDI has introduced the Alabama Prosperity Forum, a new series of short courses focusing on areas in which Alabama economic and community development professionals have expressed a desire for more training. This course is the second of three being offered in 2009.

Location and Accommodations

The course will be held at the Hotel at Auburn University and Dixon Conference Center. Hotel room reservations are the responsibility of the individual participant and are not included in the course fee.

ECDI has reserved rooms at the Hotel for Wednesday, June 17th and Thursday, June 18th. A group room rate of $96.00 per night is available for course participants until the room block is full.

Participants need to indicate they are attending the ECDI sustainable economic development course when making their reservations in order to receive the special rate. Hotel reservations can be made by calling the Hotel at 1-800-228-2876. Directions to the Conference Center are available at www.auhcc.com.
