Introduction to Machine Learning and Artificial Intelligence

New! Learn what machine learning and artificial intelligence is all about from a completely non-technical layman’s perspective. We’ll begin by introducing the basic machine learning concepts without using a computer and then move to simple, hands-on computer examples to show how machines are taught to think. Absolutely no programming required - it will all be done for you. We’ll explore compelling examples of how machines learn and give us answers using facial classification, Titanic survivors, health care diagnoses, sports and more. You can even ask the computer to predict if you would have survived the Titanic sinking. Discussion is encouraged and the class will be open to exploring how you may use machine learning and artificial intelligence in your vocation or organization.

TEST PREPARATION

ACT Summer Institute (Classroom) and ACT Blitz (Online)
These ACT preparation courses, whether you choose the 16-hour Live-Online ACT Blitz Preparation Course or the traditional classroom format delivered by an expert instructor, will provide students with all the intricacies of a face-to-face classroom experience. This class is designed to provide you with the skills necessary to succeed on the ACT. Live lessons give you the opportunity to participate in class discussions and learning exercises. As an added feature of the online class, each session is recorded so that you can watch and review lessons on your own time (access available 30 days after course end date). Instruction will cover all math and verbal skills needed for success on the ACT exam. Class sessions use actual test questions to show just how skills are tested on the ACT. The online class is offered online using Adobe Connect software. All you need is a high-speed Internet connection, speakers or head phones and Adobe Flash Player, which can be downloaded for free. Course materials will be delivered to your home or classroom. We recommend early registration as seats are limited for the classroom class to ensure proper one on one instructional time with each student.
