LEED AP Building Design & Construction EXAM PREP

Presented by AU LEED AP Faculty: Justin Miller and Darren Olsen

Thursday, September 15, 2011 8:00 AM–5:00 PM (CT)

Student Center, Room 2225, Auburn University

LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) is an internationally recognized green building certification system developed by the USGBC. The broad range of LEED rating areas has necessitated the development of a series of specialty building certifications and professional accreditations. These specialty credentials now replace the more general LEED AP accreditation. The LEED AP + BD&C credential was created by the Green Building Certification Institute (GBCI) to denote practical knowledge of the Green Building Design and Construction LEED rating systems: LEED for New Construction, LEED for Schools and LEED for Core & Shell. This Course will provide an overview of all of the prerequisites and credits required for buildings to obtain the LEED AP + BD&C credential.
