

CALL FOR PAPERS
Special Issue International Review of Economics &
Finance

Energy and International Economics

Edited by
Henry Thompson, Auburn University

International Review of Economics & Finance invites manuscript submission for a Special Issue scheduled for publication in 2013.

The role of energy as a primary input and intermediate product is critical to international trade and open macro-economies. This Special Issue will include contributions to theory relating energy and international economics, as well as empirical studies based on theory.

Topics include but are not limited to:

- Production and trade with energy inputs
- Trade in intermediate energy products
- Energy prices and international economics
- The interplay between energy policy and trade policy
- Energy issues in the open macro-economy
- Energy prices, exchange rates, balance of payments

The deadline for submissions is 1 March 2012. Papers will be double blind peer reviewed. Authors will be notified within 3 months of submission on editorial decisions. Revisions will stress quick turnaround.

All manuscripts should be double spaced. Submit in PDF format to Henry Thompson at thomph1@auburn.edu. Submit two PDF files, one without author information for blind reviews. Maximum total length is 25 pages including tables and diagrams.

The submission fee is $100 payable to IREF. Mail payment to:
