

Geology (BS)

Professional Licensure: Meets	Disclosure Statement
AL, AZ, AR, CA, DC, DE, FL, GA, ID, IL, IN, KS, KY, LA, ME, MN, MS, MO, NC, NE, NH, NY, OR, PA, PR, SC, TN, TX, UT, VA, WA, WI, WY	The Bachelor of Science in Geology at Auburn University prepare students to meet the educational requirements for the National Association of State Boards of Geology (ASBOG) licensure examinations. Each state licensure board has sole authority in determining whether credits earned are acceptable for examination and licensure. Additionally, states might have more specific requirements that must be met to obtain licensure. For detailed licensure requirements for each state, visit their licensure website for more information.

Professional Licensure: Undetermined	Disclosure Statement
IA, MI	Auburn University has not yet determined if the Bachelor of Science in Geology meets licensure requirements at this time.

Professional Licensure: Not Required	Disclosure Statement
AK, CO, CT, HI, MA, MD, MT, ND, NJ, NM, NV, OH, OK, RI, SD, VT, WV	There are no pertinent geological licensure laws.

National Association of State Boards of Geology

Program Contact