Job Title: Production Manager
Job Code: AB16
FLSA status: Exempt

Job Family: No Family
Grade 33: $39,300 - $65,500

Job Summary
Reporting to the Director of Production, responsible for executing all aspects of a specific functional area—audio, lighting, or stage operations—as well as the coordination of related technical elements throughout productions presented at the Jay & Susie Gogue Performance Arts Center (GPAC), a multi-use performing arts venue.

Essential Functions

1. Acts as the subject matter expert for a specific area of production, as well as oversees equipment, work areas, and establishes a safe working environment:
   - Audio: Acts as Sound Board Operator (AI or A2) for productions, providing a professional audio mix as front-of-house engineer and/or monitor engineer on any given production. Supervises and actively participates in the installation and operating of all sound and projection systems. This includes: setting up and "ringing out" a live and/or reinforcement audio system with a full complement of wired and wireless microphones, stage and in-ear monitors, direct inputs, outboard gear, assisting with back line set-up, and striking of all equipment for each even.
   - Lighting: Acts as the master electrician and lighting board operator for productions. Supervises and actively participates in the installation and execution of lighting for performances, including preparing, hanging, circuiting, programming, and focusing stage lighting fixtures, as well as striking all lighting equipment for each performance and event. Lighting fixtures may include conventional, LED, moving fixtures, and others.
   - Stage Operations: Acts as the deck chief and fly operator for productions. Responsible for overseeing show-specific rigging, as well as maintaining stage equipment and work areas. This includes automated and manual rigging systems, dance flooring installation, pit lift systems, chain motor operation and maintenance, and acoustic shell installation.

2. Oversees the respective functional operations in compliance with the Gouge Performing Arts Center's vision and mission for excellence including planning, development, set-up, testing, implementation, and maintenance of equipment for operations. Collaborates with visiting workforce when required.

3. Provides and manages respective functional support for all building operations and events while demonstrating excellent customer service to all patrons, artists, and clients by advising during presenting and rental contract negotiations as to the capabilities of the spaces and available equipment. Reviews, interprets, and executes respective technical requests of user groups and presents written estimates of cost of labor and materials for events to supervisor in a timely manner.

4. Creates and updates the respective operational systems and specifications for the facility. Manages inventory, storage, repair, and preventative maintenance of all related tools and equipment. Updates software and hardware needs in keeping with ongoing current standards for performing arts events.

5. Monitors and implements industry best practices for the respective functional area, particularly in relation to health & safety, in all GPAC spaces. Provide regular updates to the Director of Production on the areas of responsibility.

6. Trains and supervises students, TES, and contracted employees involved in audio and video production operations of the GPAC.

7. Performs other duties as assigned by supervisor.
