Job Function:	HR Operations

JOB SUMMARY

Reporting to the Associate Vice President (AVP) of Human Resources, this dual role serves as both a strategic HR leader within the Research and Economic Development division and also as an expert resource for University Human Resources (UHR). The Executive Director provides guidance on HR programs that impact university-wide research initiatives and manages a diverse University Central HR team responsible for implementing HR policies, resolving employee relations issues, and fostering organizational alignment.

The Executive Director formulates partnerships across the HR function to deliver value-added service to management and employees reflecting the business objectives of the University. Provides consultation to campus management on human resources-related issues; directs the assessment and development needs of human resources professionals across campus; collaborates with central office and campus staff in the development of appropriate policies, procedures, and processes. Develops effective relationships with senior University and campus leadership to maintain an effective level of business literacy. Directs and oversees specialized consultation to employee discipline issues; and provides interpretation of related policies, procedures, and practices to University clients.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Strategic HR Leadership for Research Division - Serves as an HR advisor to the Senior Vice President of Research, managing division-wide HR initiatives that support research competitiveness and faculty success. Collaborates with research stakeholders to implement efficient HR policies that align with the university's research mission, including workforce planning and development for research administration roles. Ensures HR policies are applied consistently across the research enterprise, managing compliance with federal, state and university regulations. Addresses compliance risks proactively, collaborating with liaisons to implement corrective actions and maintain awareness of regulatory obligations.
- Research Talent and Organizational Development - Collaborates with research senior leadership on workforce planning, organizational design, and talent development, particularly within the research talent pipeline. Leads initiatives that enhance research talent recruitment, onboarding, and retention, directly impacting the university's research mission.
- University-wide HR Expert Resource - Acts as an HR expert on university-level projects, workforce planning, and compliance initiatives, working closely with the AVP of Human Resources to align HR strategies with campus-wide goals. Offers guidance and training to various colleges and departments, ensuring consistent HR practices and policy adherence.
- HR Liaison Structure Oversight - Directs the HR Liaison network, ensuring alignment with UHR policies across designated university business units. Provides oversight through a subordinate director to facilitate HR
