JOB FAMILY AND FUNCTION

Job Family: Academic Services & Administration

Job Function: Assessment & Accreditation

JOB SUMMARY

The Director of Academic Assessment provides strategic vision for all aspects of academic assessment and continuous improvement efforts across the institution's 12 academic colleges and academic student support units. Serves as an expert in assessment, improvement, and accreditation, through service on numerous committees and through the facilitation of professional development with faculty, staff, and administrators on campus.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Develops and manages comprehensive strategies to build a shared understanding of assessment for non-academic co-curricular units and academic degree programs, including advising units on the development of goals, outcomes, and measures, and oversee the implementation of an annual assessment process focused on continuous improvement. Co-leads the University's accreditation efforts for areas pertaining to Student Achievement (8.2.a, 8.2.b, 8.2.c) and reports institutional assessment findings to the upper administration. Advises University leadership, in collaboration with institutional assessment offices, on matters related to academic, non-academic, and co-curricular unit assessment, in alignment with the University's strategic plan and mission.
- Leads and plans professional development events for faculty members and staff to enhance the quality of assessment at Auburn, which includes developing and facilitating workshops, designing resources, and facilitating focus groups. This also includes refining an infrastructure for report intake and maintenance, administering assessment training, and evaluating the quality of assessment described in assessment reports.
- Supports academic units and accreditation efforts through the facilitation of program-wide curriculum reviews and provides evidence of continuous improvement during disciplinary accreditation visits.
- Sets the vision for pioneering an innovative approach to assessment through the lens of learning improvement; designs and administers all learning improvement professional development.
- Represents the Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs by overseeing and facilitating academic program review processes for Auburn University's academic departments, communicating with internal and external stakeholders.
- Provides strategic leadership for the Office of Academic Insight that supports the mission of the Executive Director, Academic Insight to promote and enhance the efficiency, effectiveness, and quality of academic and non-academic assessment at Auburn University.
- Supervises a team that provides data analytic support to academic programs and academic student support service units in their efforts to seek continuous improvement and operational excellence.
- Represent the Office of Academic Insight and Auburn University by providing assessment expertise through service to relevant university committees and by conducting paper presentations, workshops, and publishing peer-reviewed research.

RESPONSIBILITIES

• Supports assessment efforts for special projects for university senior leadership.
